1. East Village & Chobham Manor
   See how the former Basketball Arena has been transformed into the first family friendly Olympic neighbourhood centered around a series of play spaces for children.

2. Lee Valley VeloPark & Lee Valley Hockey and Tennis Centre
   Experience Lee Valley VeloPark - the only place in the world where visitors can take on track, BMX, road and mountain biking. Designed by Hopkins Architects. Then head to Lee Valley Hockey and Tennis Centre - the only purpose-built new London 2012 Paralympic venue. Designed by Stanton Williams.

3. Here East
   See first hand how the former Olympic Press and Media Center has been re-developed by Hawkins\Brown into an innovation and technology campus.

4. East Wick, Copper Box Arena & Hackney Bridge
   Discover the vibrant new neighbourhood, with a mix of cultural venues providing leisure and entertainment for all.

5. Hackney Wick Station
   Arrive through the station designed by architects Landolt+Brown and artist Wendy Hardy, with strong creative references to the River Lea and its industries.

6. Fish Island
   Wander around the former industrial heart of the borough and discover the creative spaces and makers who have enlivened the area.

7. London Stadium
   Take in the iconic multi-purpose stadium. Balancing the spectacle of the Games with the longer legacy of the building, designers Populous have created a truly impressive building for the ages.

8. East Bank
   View in real time as London's next powerhouse for innovation and creativity is built. Designed by world renowned architects, buildings include the BBC, Sadler's Wells, UAL's London College of Fashion and the V&A.

9. London Aquatics Centre
   Don't miss the waved shaped venue, designed by Zaha Hadid Architects and inspired by the fluid geometry of water in motion.

10. International Quarter London
    See London's new business quarter up close. Developed by Lendlease and LCR with the future in mind, IQL is already home to Transport for London, the Financial Conduct Authority and the British Council.

11. ArcelorMittal Orbit & UCL East
    Enjoy city views from the UK's tallest sculpture, created by Anish Kapoor and Cecil Balmond, and wander over to UCL's newest campus.

12. Stratford High Street & Jubilee Greenway
    Travel on foot or cycle over The Greenway, an impressive stretch of green above London's sewage pathway. Take in the Olympic skyline as you drop in to Stratford High Street.

13. Pudding Mill Lane & ABBA Arena
    Explore a new neighbourhood centre around the DLR station, which includes a temporary purpose-built arena for ABBA Voyage, the Swedish band's never-before-seen concert.

14. Sugar House Island & Three Mills Green
    Visit the 19th century sugar warehouse from which the development takes its name before heading over the bridge to Three Mills Park to take a walk on The Line, London's first dedicated public art walk.

15. Bromley-by-Bow
    Enjoy a quieter moment along the River Lea as you explore the historical riverside area, with new affordable housing and community facilities creating a vibrant neighbourhood.

Our Partners
AECCOM, Allies + Morrison, Arup, Delancey, Deloitte, Gerald Eve, Get Living, Guinness Partnership, Hadley, Hawkins\Brown, Here East, LDA Design, Lee Valley Regional Park Authority, Lendlease, LLDC, Mace, Places for People, Plexal, Populous, Prior + Partners, PRP Architects, Taylor Wimpey, Westfield
To celebrate the 10th anniversary and legacy of the London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games, London Festival of Architecture (LFA) invites you to visit the Park, to discover the unique buildings and communities which are defining and shaping this extraordinary place.

LFA will celebrate the area’s creative past, present and future by showcasing local stories and urban innovation at all scales, through engaging events and activities throughout the month of June 2022.

LFA is run by New London Architecture (NLA), the leading independent centre for London’s built environment. NLA also runs a busy yearly programme of events, as well as public galleries featuring a large interactive scale model of London, which you can currently visit at Westfield Stratford City.